

MRS. ANNA ROTH

Passed Away At Her Home Near Aberdeen Wednesday Evening.

Mrs. Anna Roth, nee Keoppel, who for the last two years has been making her home with her daughter, Mrs. Lena Evans, about one mile east of Aberdeen, died very suddenly Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

While making a neighborly call she suffered an attack of apoplexy and fell about fifty yards from her home. She was found in an unconscious condition and moved to the house. Medical aid was summoned at once, but the end came peacefully without regaining consciousness.

She has lived in the immediate vicinity for about fifty years. She was a kind and loving mother, a devoted wife, an honored neighbor and a firm and sincere Christian, having been for years a faithful member of St. Patrick's Catholic church.

Deceased was born July 26, 1836, in Baden, Germany, and came to America December 25, 1856. She was married to Mathew Huth in 1860 and to this union was born three children, John Huth, of Dayton, O., deceased; Frank Huth, of Hattiesburg, Miss., and Mrs. Lena Evans, of Aberdeen.

She was again married in 1866 to Philip Roth and to this union was born eight children, George, of Aberdeen; Charles, Andrew and Joe, of Dayton, O.; Mary, deceased; Mrs. Maud McDaniel, Mrs. Lizzie Shaw and Mrs. Emma Shaper, of Dayton, O.; Henry Roth, of Dayton, O.; and William Roth, of Urbana, O., and William Roth, of Dayton, O. Mrs. Katharine Newell, of Dayton, O., and Mrs. Lena Dawson, of Portsmouth, O., are stepchildren by the second marriage.

Besides the above relatives, an aged and only brother, John Keoppel, of Germantown, O., and a host of friends are left to mourn her loss.

Funeral procession from the house at 7:30 Saturday morning and services at St. Patrick's Catholic church at 9 o'clock. Interment in the Washington cemetery.

WOMAN'S CLUB

Sends Telegram To President Wilson Urging a Conference of Neutrals Looking For Peace.

The following telegram was received Wednesday:

Mrs. Abner Hord, President Mason County Woman's Club, Maysville, Ky.

"For the sake of all anxious mothers dreading that their sons may be added to the ten million men already killed or crippled in this war, will you strengthen the appeal to be made next Friday by Ethel Snowden, of England, and Rosika Schwimmer, of Hungary, to President Wilson by telegraphing him immediately at Washington?"

(Signed) Jane Addams, President Woman's Peace Society.

The following reply was sent:

"To the Hon. Woodrow Wilson:

"We urge a conference of neutral nations dedicated to finding a just settlement of this war. (Signed) Mrs. George Longnecker, president; Mrs. Thomas M. Russell, second vice president; Mrs. Eugene Merz, secretary; Mrs. Abner Hord, treasurer."

Mrs. Henry Ford has given $10,000 to the Women's Peace Party toward the telegraph campaign. The campaign will be brought to a climax Friday, when a delegation of peace advocates will call on President Wilson and ask him to interest himself in having the proposed conference called.

SAID THAT HE LOST SPEECH.

(Times-Star.)

"I lost my speech and it was restored to me again at midnight. I thought it was gone for good, Judge," exclaimed Bob McLaughlin, itinerant citizen, before Judge T. J. Edmonds Wednesday morning in Covington Police Court. The prisoner said that he was en route from the bedside of his father at Maysville to join his family at West Union. McLaughlin was re-named to jail to serve a fine of $10 and costs on a charge of drunkenness.

EXPULSED FROM MINISTRY.

Rev. B. F. Chatham, who is well known here as former pastor of the M. E. church, South, was expelled from the ministry by a committee of the Conference on Wednesday. Chatham was charged with intimate relations with a woman member of his congregation at Middlesboro, Ky. The woman was the main witness against him.

In Covington Wednesday morning at the home of Robert L. Manwaring, Miss Amelia Bruce Pogue, of Flemingsburg, and John Mills Duncanson, of St. Louis, Mo., were united in marriage. The young people have been sweethearts for years. They left Cincinnati at noon for St. Louis in the private car of the cousin of the groom, Charles H. Thompson, of New Orleans, second vice president of the Texas Pacific railroad. Miss Frances Jones accompanied Miss Pogue to Covington and attended the wedding.

Colonel John D. Littlejohn, one of the brainy writers for the Portsmouth Star, was in Maysville Friday en route home. Colonel Littlejohn has for years been associated with the newspaper fraternity in Kentucky, having been the proprietor of the Lawrence County Republican, and no more genteel or fair-minded man ever wielded a pen in this State. The Ledger was glad to extend to him the hearty handshake of welcome, and bid him come oftener.

Word has been received here of the death of Mrs. Alvin Schmidt, of Spokane, Wash., on November 14. She was a sister of Frank and Joseph DePossa, of Ripley. John DePossa and Mrs. Gallenstein, of Maysville; Charles DePossa, of Cincinnati; and Mrs. Steen Dehrent, of New York State.

The J. R. Ware passed up for the Kanawha with six empties for the E. J. Hickey Transportation Company, in command of Captain Everett Roush and Pilot Peter Holloway.

The Robert P. Gilham took a tow of coal to Parkersburg, W. Va., for the government dam from Pt. Pleasant, W. Va., and left Tuesday for Cincinnati with a tow of Campbell's creek coal.

The Monongahela River Consolidated Coal & Coke Company towboat Samuel Brown passed down with a tow of Kanawha river coal and two model tows of manufacturing iron for Louisville. The Brown was in command of Lew Blair.

The Leroy is on the docks at Pt. Pleasant repairing damages sustained last Saturday when she ran onto a sandbar near the mouth of Coal river. She is owned by Capt. Greene and Stadler.

Among the claims against the Steel City, formerly the Pittsburgh packet Virginia, is $6,000 for 12,000 meals it is claimed the stewards had furnished on a contract of 50 cents per meal. Rivermen are of the opinion that the Virginia was one of the finest stern-wheel steamboats ever built for the Pittsburgh and Cincinnati trade. The late Captain Thomas S. Calhoun, a part owner, was her first commander. The late Captain T. Spence Sanford was one of the Virginia's first pilots.

BRILLIANT OPENING AT JUAREZ TRACK.

El Paso, Tex., November 24.—Whether General Carranza will carry out his threat to stop race track betting is the principal topic of horsemen who are gathered here for tomorrow's grand opening at the Juarez track. The Jockey Club officials believe their franchise, granted by the Diaz government, will still hold water, and they expect no antagonism from the new provisional president. The opening tomorrow promises to be a gala event, with large attendance of Americans and Mexicans and some excellent contests.

The Juarez plant is one of the most costly and perfect in appointments of any race track in existence and has called for a greater outlay of money than any other race track, with the possible exception of the Belmont track. Since last winter the great track, a mile and one-eighth around, has been raised so as to give it perfect drainage. Postponements are expected to be very few. This season will extend for a hundred or more racing days.

LOUISVILLE WIFE SLAYER ON TRIAL.

Louisville, Ky., November 24.—John M. Lockhart, aged 47, for twenty-seven years government locktender on the Louisville and Portland canal, was placed on trial today for the murder of his wife. He is haggard and worn, and seems indifferent to his fate. Lockhart shot and killed his wife, Ida M. Lockhart, on Fifth street, last month, as she emerged from the Inter-Southern building. She had told her counsel that she would postpone her divorce libel, because her husband had threatened her life if she sought a divorce.

The shooting occurred at the noon hour, when the streets were filled with pedestrians and created intense excitement. Lockhart fired two shots with his revolver to his wife's face, and she fell dead. He then ran into the street to evade passers-by and tried to end his own life by firing twice at his head. In his excitement, both shots missed fire, and the police surrounded and captured him.

RELATIVES OF MILLIONAIRE TRY TO BAIL CUPID.

Pittsburg, Pa., November 25.—Arguments will be heard today on the petition of relations of Henry Dennison, Pittsburg millionaire recluse, who seek to have a guardian appointed to look after his estate. The recluse is 76 years old, and he is engaged to wed a woman considerably younger than himself. Evidence as to the capability of the aged millionaire to handle his own affairs has been given in court and Judge Miller has privately examined the recluse.

HERO MEDAL SOUGHT FOR 14-YEAR-OLD PARIS BOY.

(Paris News.)

A petition is in circulation here for securing from the Carnegie Hero Fund a medal for Alex Rice, Jr., the 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Rice. On two occasions young Rice saved the lives of companions while in bathing. Last summer he jumped into the pool below the Paris Milling Company's dam on Stoner creek and brought ashore a boy who was drowning and who had gone down for the third time.

EVERYBODY'S DOING IT.

The few days of cold weather has brought on hog killing time and every farmer in the county is killing his winter meat. Several of the stores of Maysville are selling the product, and it will be but a few days until the market will be flooded with home-killed pork.

CALL MEETIN' GOF CARPENTERS AND JOINERS UNION.

Here is graphically pictured the fate of so many of the brave Russians who desperately charge the German positions that are protected by barbed wire entanglements. Caught in the barricade, the men are mowed down by machine guns.

A BEAUTIFUL POEM.

Mrs. Wood, wife of Mr. C. L. Wood, cashier of the Farmers & Traders Bank, of this city, has the following beautiful poem in the December Ladies' Home Journal. It is a gem and worth reading by every one. Mrs. Wood has written a number of poems, some of them ranking among the best of American poetical productions. The poem follows:

MY CHRISTMAS GERANIUM.

By Eleanor Duncan Wood

Across the narrow alleyway
I see my neighbor's candles shine;
She and her brood keep holiday;
But in this garret room of mine
No children's voices clamor sweet,
No threadbare stockings gayly swing.

Alas! I have no gift to greet
The coming of tomorrow's King.

Yet on my window's narrow ledge
My lone geranium blooms; I see
Its blossoms like a scarlet wedge
Strike through the growing dusk to me.

Bright as the hopes of yesteryear,
Faint as the joys that perished then,
Brave comrades, thou hast lent thy cheer
To my gray, loveless life, what then?

Thou art mine own; adown the stair
A sick child lifts her fevered eyes;
Bloom thou in that dark room and here,
And bid her dream of Paradise;

Of happy meadows honey sweet;
Of birds that sing from sun to sun;
And echoes of far childish feet
That wait for her—the dreaming one.

What though my selfish eyes are dim;
That nevermore upon my sill
I'll watch thee blossom; that the grim
Walls grow without thee grimmer still?

Free-hearted do I give thee, dear;
And lo! thou bloom'st a Royal thing;
Thou art my message of good cheer;
Thou art my greeting to the King!

THOUGH WE MAY NOT HAVE TURKEY.

(By Henrietta Schebler.)

The following recipes were received too late by The Ledger for publication on Wednesday, but we take pleasure in publishing them at this time, as they are good and can be used at any time.

Mock Possum.

Boil two medium sized sweet potatoes; rub through a sieve and add a rounded tablespoon of butter, two teaspoons of brown sugar, salt to taste and a dash of cayenne. Place on a tender pork steak which has been sprinkled with salt and black pepper; roll and the steak and put into a baking pan with a cupful of boiling water. Bake in a hot oven until done and nicely browned. Serve piccantly with this dish, which will surprise and delight you.

Chicken With Oyster Dressing.

Steam the chicken closely covered over salted water from one to two hours, according to age. Stuff with oyster dressing made with one pint of oysters, scalded; one cupful of soft breadcrumbs; one large tablespoon of butter, yolks of two eggs well beaten and salt and pepper to taste. Cook about thirty minutes in well heated oven, browning well.

Mock Duck.

Scald a slice of calf's liver ten minutes, drain and chop; add two cupfuls of crumbled bread, a dump of butter and enough hot water in which one-fourth teaspoon of beef extract has been dissolved, to moisten; salt and pepper to taste; spread on a round steak, roll and tie; put in baking pan with a cupful of stock made from the beef extract and bake in hot oven, basting twice with the stock. Good hot or cold.
